The recent failure of a cotton mill at Charleston has not disheartened the South-ern cotton manufacturers, according to J. S. Davis of Charleston, S. C., who is at "The mill that failed was operated by negro labor. This is taken as an evidence that negro labor cannot profitably be employed in the cotton mills of the South. It ployed in the cotton mills of the South. It is all a mistake. The failure of the company operating the mill was not because of the negro labor, but by reason of other things. The fact that accommodations for the laborers could not be found near the institution was one of them.

"Negro labor on the spindles and at other minor working parts of the cotton mill are successful. The negroes have contributed no small success to the operation of the cotton mills. They seem to have a knack of handling the greatest product of the South and become expert in time.

"The cotton industry has become a permanent factor in the State of South Caromann and the state of So

We do not manufacture the high grade of cot-ton goods that is made in the North, but our mills are rapidly acquiring the Yankee tricks. "Taney County has an ore that resembles the gold ore of the famous Rand mines of Africa. The ore is found in ledges, as the Rand ore is found, and if it assays gold in such quantities as we expect it to do there will be millions of dollars taken out of the ground. Little has been known of the charthe last few days that any extensive pros pecting has been done. HIS NINETY-THIRD BIRTHDAY.

John Euge Will Celebrate It Next Thursday.

Thursday.

John Euge, who lives on the Lemay
Ferry road, three miles south of St. Louis, has issued invitations to his relatives and immediate friends to be present at the celebration of his ninety-third birthday next. Thursday, Since the death of John C. E. Roswag, last November, Mr. Euge claims the distinction of being the oldest man in St. Louis County. His appearance, however, will not sustain his contention, as he does not look to be older than 65.

Mr. Euge was born in St. Louis and lived the reall his life. His father came to St. Louis with Laclede and helped to found the town. His first work was on the river, and in 1858 he was one of a party that pulled an in 1858 he was one of a party that pulled an floated back to St. Louis for the market. Mr. Euge has only one child, Mrs. A. J. Shores of Clayton. He has three standchildren. The same and severe streating dren and severe great-grandchildren. The same special grandchildren are W. T. Shores and Mrs. Sarah A. Smith of Springfield. Mo., and A. J. Shores, Jr., of Mehlville. His first wife, whom he married in 1825, was a Miss Called His fath years younger than Mrs. Shores. She was a Miss DeLores, and married Mr. Euge when he was 62 years old.

In the early history of St. Louis the name is spelled Huse and pronounced Uge. The change in the spelling was brought about by Judge Shores, who, when he heard the name, spelled it Euge, and so addressed his sweetheart in letters that he wrote her. She accepted the spelling, and since then the name has been known as Euge.

Purchase Plan of Burlington May Be Submitted to the Stockholders.

AN OUTLINE OF THE SCHEME.

Secret Conference Held in New York-New Director for Southern Pacific-New Service-Notes.

Boston, Mass., March 29.-The Post Boston, Mass., March 28.—The Post to-day says: The proposed consolidation of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Rail-road Company with the Great Northern and Northern Facific railroads, has reached a final stage. The long delayed plan, it is said, is ready for submission to the Chi-cago, Burlington and Quincy stockholders. The server conference of President Lames The secret conference of President James J. Hill of the Great Northern, Charles E. Perkins, chairman of the Burlington Board of Directors, and ex-Senator Wolcott of Colorado at the Victoria Hotel in this city on Wednesday, is believed to have settled the question.

The plan provides, it is said, for the purchase of Chicago, Burlington and Quincy bonds at 187% in 3% per cent guaranteed bonds or 180 in cash. It is not known whether the proposition contained a guarantee to the stockholders of the proposed 7 per cent. per cent. The large Chicago, Burlington and Quincy stockholders do not manifest pleasure over the rumors of a deal.

The large Chicago, Burlington and Quincy stockholders do not manifest pleasure over the rumors of a deal.

The plans were laid some time ago. Wednesday's conference was prolonged, and at its close President Hill and Senator Wolcott hurriedly departed for the West. Mr. Wolcott had been in Boston since March 17 talking over matters pertaining to the consolidation.

The officials of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Raffroad here streed that they could give no new light on the report that the Northern Pacific and Great Northern interests had gained control of the road. Stockholders here were also in the dark as to the facts. In financial circles it is believed that President Hill of the Great Northern is in such a position with his large holdings of Burlington and strong backing in his purpose to lease Burlington that the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy directors will be forced to give more serious consideration to the offer of a guarantee on the stock than they have heretofore been disposed to give it.

One of the largest stockholders of the Burlington says: "From my investigation of the reports as to a prospective change in the control of the Burlington I feel confident that the Northern Pacific Seat Northern people are after the property, and I do not believe that they would attempt to secure control unless there were good prospects of success."

Burlington, I.a., March 29.—General Solicitor J. W. Elythe of the Burlington says nothing is known here concerning the reported combination between the Burlington, Northern Pacific and Great Northern. He does not believe the Boston Post's ctory is true. He says he does not believe a deal could be made at the prices quoted, that not less than 200 cash for Burlington bonds would be accepted. The name of Scnator Wolcott in connection with the Jeal rather discredits the accuracy of the story, as he cannot possibly have anything to do with it. NOT BELIEVED AT BURLINGTON.

MAY REVIVE COMMISSIONS. Certain Lines Charged With Paying Them to Summer Excursion Agents.
Chicago, March 29.—A resumption of the payment of commissions on ticket sales is a possibility threatening Western railroads according to the Evening Post. Railroad officials are excited over reports that certain roads are now paying commissions to a firm engaged in running "summer excursions."
Roads which refused to give this firm commissions for routing their business over their lines have been refused business by the excursion people, it is chaimed, and the traffic is given exclusively to roads which were paying commissions prior to the agreement abolishing such payments.
